A PROBLEM TO BE CONSIDERED

The value of all taxable property in Spalding county, as returned to the county Tax Receiver, is approximately $6,000,000.00, about half of which is located inside of the city of Griffin. However, the half within the city limits is returned for city taxation at about $4,000,000.00, taxed for school purposes at four mills, and bonded for building adequate school houses; while the half in the rural districts is returned for taxation at about $3,000,000.00, taxed for school support at two mills, and leaving the building of school houses to the interest or indifference of individuals or communities. In Georgia, country people will rarely vote for bonds for anything except the building of court houses and jails, while every city has pledged its property for adequate school houses for the children. Are not "children more important than property" everywhere?

SPALDING COUNTY PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

The general conception of the average country school in the South has been defined as "a little piece of ground, upon which is a little house, in which is a little equipment, at which a little teacher, on a little salary, for a little while, attempting to teach little children little things."

The rural public schools of Spalding county measure up somewhat better than such a definition would indicate, but do not fulfill the modern conception of "Big Business".

The fundamental rural school problem is that the people should have a bigger conception and deeper conviction of the purpose and meaning and tremendous significance of our rural public schools, for not until then will our schools approximate what they should be. There is no greater public interest or any that demands more liberal support and business-like administration. As in any other "big business" liberality and business sagacity in administration is the first and indispensable essential.

Fortunately in Spalding county the "Directors" of the rural public schools—the county Board of Education—are men fully capable of successfully managing "big business", as shown by their success in managing private and corporate enterprises. Similar wise and liberal business methods applied in administration of the county's rural public school system will assure similar success in the education of the county's children, and the profits to the public will be even greater. The services rendered would be classed as unselfish patriotism in a righteous cause.

THE SYSTEM.

By a special Act of the Legislature, approved August 28, 1911, "All of the school districts in Spalding county outside of the city of Griffin" were "consolidated into one school district", and placed under the complete "management of the county superintendent and county Board of Education". This special Act also provided that "within ninety days after its passage", and "after being ratified by a two-thirds vote of the people of the county," (which was duly ratified), the county Board should have the right to levy for school purposes a maximum of five mills against all the property of the county outside of the city of Griffin. Under this authority the county Board has levied annually two mills, which in 1916 yielded $6,000.00. This amount added to the state fund of $11,788.65 gave for the county schools last year a total of $17,788.65. Divided by the number of children of school age according to the last school census this was $5.00 per capita for their education, which was a pitifully small sum and altogether inadequate. Under this meager maintenance the children of the rural districts do not have an equal educational opportunity with those who live in the cities. The reason is that city property is both returned for taxation at a higher valuation and taxed at a higher rate to educate city children than country property for the education of country children.

The Sam Bailey School.

Cost $25,000.00

Furthermore, in practically every town and city in the land the institution of the public schools is thought to be of sufficient importance and permanence to justify the issuing of long term bonds for the construction of adequate plants to meet the growing demands of such "big business", while our rural districts (with few exceptions) still depend upon voluntary subscriptions, box suppers, and other uncertain and unbusiness-like methods for building purposes. No wonder that most rural schools command so little respect in the estimation of the public.

Property is not proportionately more important than children in the country than in the cities, and could well stand as heavy a tax rate for their education.

Looking far into the future the City is still providing for the education of her children. Two buildings just erected from a bond issue voted by the people.

Cost $58,000.00.

The New North Side Grammar School
Cost $12,500.00.

A COMPARISON.

	City	County
Enrollment (1916) -----	1770	1150
Average attendance (1916) -----	1590	1020
Number days school year -----	180	130
Total Value of school buildings -----	$140,000.00	$ 9,000.00
Value of buildings per pupil -----	$ 79.00	$ 7.82
Total number of patent desks -----	1400	450
Cost of supervision -----	$ 2,400.00	$ 900.00
Cost of supervision per pupil -----	$ 1.35	$ .77
Total paid to teachers -----	$ 20,116.00	$ 12,769.00
Tax on property for school purposes (1916) -----	4 mills	2 mills

(NOTE: Three mills has been levied by the county for 1917.)

DON'T THEY DESERVE IT?

Given to the country children per capita as much supervision, as good teaching, as long terms, as efficient equipment, as adequate school plants, or as nearly so as possible limited by the same proportionate tax rate, as the city children enjoy and the rural schools will accomplish as much for them and for the community as the city schools have done for the city. And this would be only reasonable and business-like. And it would prove very profitable both to the children and to the property involved, even as it does in the city. In Spalding county, however, as in other Georgia counties, the cause of education in the country districts suffers in comparison with the cities both in the valuation of the property for taxation and in the rate levied, in the manner of raising funds for building school houses, in the length of the school year, in the professional strength of the teachers, and particularly in the amount of supervision. See the comparisons.

AN EXCEPTION.

Attention is called to the East Griffin School. Here we find an up-to-date building, by far the best in the county, a more liberal equipment, a longer school year, a better organized school. Upon inquiry it is found that the Mill owners, after paying the county school tax on their property, further supplement this from the Mill funds sufficiently to provide a good school for the children of the Mill operatives because it pays. They are successful business men, and they consider this good business policy. Spalding county is as well able as the East Griffin Mill or the city of Griffin, and similar liberal policies would pay the county.

The Grantland House.

THE PROSPECTS.

In this county, as elsewhere over the state, there are hopeful signs of an awakening public sentiment for more adequate rural public schools. Fortunately, Spalding county already has the necessary legal machinery, and the power and responsibility of administration is in the hands of capable business men. It only remains for a strong and insistent public sentiment throughout the county to inspire and sustain a progressive superintendent and Board of Education in a liberal and far-reaching policy to make for the county as adequate a system of public schools as has already been accomplished for the city.

And with the earnest hope that this Bulletin will contribute something to this end it is respectfully submitted to the patrons and citizens of Spalding county.

M. L. DUGGAN,
Rural School Agent for Georgia.
